over eons of time in the history of the planet there have been those of you and others who have come to this planet, taken on physical body. you've joined the community. you've become part of humanity.

but there have been a lot of other forces that have been constantly interfering with the planet, constantly interfering. I do not have any love or even any like for any of these forces. they're, what you would call, alien beings. they're not necessarily human-looking. they don't even necessarily have physical body, but they have been interfering on a variety of different levels on the planet.

they've been allowed to do it for a number of reasons, and actually it's kind of interesting that we have our two guests here today from poland, because that's one of the places they've been interfering the most in modern times. so thank you for being here (to wim & lydia), it's very appropriate.

what's happening right now with the closing of the order of the arc is that all these external forces that have been playing games on the planet, with the planet, with humanity, are being called back to their angelic families. they're being summoned, almost demanded back.

so imagine for a moment. you've got this planet, angelic beings come down here, take on the human condition, struggle a lot with it, they get lost in it and then ultimately, they emerge.

but in the same time, you have levels and layers of interference from, you could say, other realms, other parts of the universe, but also other realms, not earthly realms. they interfere for their own, I would say, greedy sake. they're not here to help the planet. they really aren't.

I'll make a very clear statement: there are no outside forces that are here to help the planet, other than perhaps your own angelic families, but they don't interfere. there are no alien beings. there are no galactic commands. don't get me started on the pleadians, but they are all being called back home.

there's an old saying that's now coming into reality, and the old saying is "when the dragon comes upon earth, then the trumpet will sound for the return back home."

basically, what that means is – we talked recently in prognost 2019 – said, "the dragon..." – the dragon, which is there to make sure all of your issues are brought out and released. that's the purpose of the dragon. dragon literally means clarity. some view it as a fire-breathing monster, but it's there to make sure that you or others or even the planet are not dragging around a lot of old, old karma and issues. but the saying says that “when the dragon comes forth” – which is now, we talked about it in prognost a year and a half ago – “when the dragon comes forth, the sound, the call will go out to return home for all who are not in human form, who are not on the planet.”

this is pretty huge and it overshadows anything about coronavirus. it really overshadows anything right now, even kind of about technology, at least for a little bit, and it’s going to be happening over the next six months.

imagine for a moment: when it was time to come to earth, when all the angelic families gathered in the order of the arc and they said, “we need some volunteers to come here,” and it was really, what you would call, the leaders of the angelic family that first came – you – and it was said that gabriel sounded the trumpet or the horn or whatever he played at the time, and that was the call to come to earth. well, now there’s another call coming out from the angelic families for all who are interfering with earth to come back.

it’s going to cause a very interesting shift on the planet. very interesting. there’s been a lot of interference from the other realms, and basically what they’re trying to do is just suck energy. to put it real simple, they're just interfering for the sake of sucking energy.

they're not any more advanced than the humans. most of these sources of interference do not have any understanding or experience with this wonderful little thing you have on earth called love. they think love is an energy source and they're trying to feed off of it, but they have no understanding or experience with it. it's not an energy source. it's an experience.

there are a lot of beings in the other realms who just like interfering with the planet, just because. and, again, as I've said, in all of creation there are no beings greater than the human being.

the humans look at themselves sometimes as being at the low end of the totem pole, kind of weak and misguided beings, and think there are some great beings out there somewhere else. there's not. there is not. there are some relatively intelligent life forms, but they have no heart. they have no heart.

they're being called back home now. will all of them go? not all, but most. they're being called by their angelic families, by their origins, "it's time to come back. no more interference on the planet right now."

it has implications not only for what I would call the invisible forces that have interfered. you know, there have been, we call them god fights on the planet. it's these god-like beings, but they're not really. they call themselves gods and they use the planet for their own wars between each other. these are not physical beings, but they use the planet. they manipulate the planet. they've been doing it for eons of time. they're being called back.

so, feel into it for a moment here, the effect that it's going to have on earth in these next six months as these forces, these alien forces – nonhuman, never been in a human body before – are called back.

feel into that for a moment. what effect does that have on the planet?

well, a couple things. over a period of time humans have gotten used to this outside interference, and it's going to feel a little strange not having it. it's like if you have a sore arm and you've had it sore for years, you just get used to it, and suddenly it's not sore; it just feels a little different, a little strange. that's what it's going to feel it.

then humans, in a way, have to take more responsibility for what they're doing, more responsibility, because it's going to be them. they can't blame it on some other forces or they can't attribute these forces to try to do good things for the planet. now it's just up to humans.

they're being called back, because it is the time of machines. it's the time of technology on the planet. they're being called back home to say, "job's done down there. order of the arc is closing. you no longer have the right to interfere. or, if you want to, you have to go down and embody in the physical body and live lifetime after lifetime and have karma and have incarnations and everything else," and they're not going to.

so they're leaving and it's going to cause some shifts in power. it's going to cause some who have been connected with those forces to suddenly lose their, what you would call, power base, and it's going to cause some of them to leave the planet. it's going to cause some who have been here even as observers to go back home now.

the planet becomes the planet for humanity without outside interference. now it's up to humans to decide what they're going to do at this very important time of technology. and will humans use the technology for the betterment of the planet? or will it strike up a virus that will make this current coronavirus look small in comparison?

so you're going to feel that. you're going to feel some shifts and changes over these next six months on a planetary level, and I'm going to ask each and all of you to then kind of observe what's happening in the news, as you feel some of these forces withdraw. and it could be a wonderful feeling. now it's like you don't have that spook in the house anymore. you don't have all that outside feeling of disruption and "there's some other force out there that's interfering," because it does weigh heavy. and again, wim, you know from being in poland, and lydia from being there, poland's a beautiful place, but it's been the battlefield of the gods, as we talked about when we went there (referring to angels & aliens). it's been used by these outside forces for their own battles and affected all the people there deeply and heavily for a long time.
