DEAR JOHN...

By Geoffrey Hoppe

Dear John,

I received your overseas letter the other day and have read it a dozen times since then. It troubled me to know the agony and loneliness you're facing. I'm not sure what events in your life led you to where you're now at, but I want you to know I hear you and feel you. As you said in your letter, your situation prevents you from receiving postal mail or email, or from attending a workshop, so I will reply here. Hopefully this will be of some help to you, and other Shaumbra as well.

We all live in some type of prison, whether it's from our past, our beliefs, or the lack of love of ourselves. As you may recall, Tobias had his enlightenment while in a literal prison, and of course Adamus tops it all with his 100,000 years in his crystal prison (have you heard the story?). We have made the conscious choice to go beyond mass consciousness, and now we are simply allowing what comes next, whatever that may be. You said that a few months ago everything was coming together, and it felt that you would be released from a decades-old predicament. And then one day, in an amazing orchestrated series of events, everything went catastrophically wrong. You lost your home, friends, property, reputation, income, job prospects and right to government assistance.

You asked: "When Adamus said he only needs five embodied Masters, does this mean the rest of us will fail?" No, it was Adamus' way of saying that it only takes a few Shaumbra to come to their enlightenment in order for others to realize that it can be done. Our examples of ascended Masters are from centuries ago, such as Buddha, Kuthumi, Tobias and St. Germain. It's time now for a new generation of Masters, and he's saying that we'll choose to stay in our bodies in order to enjoy all that life has to offer, as well as being living Standards to other humans. It only takes a few to bring hope and light to many.

You asked: "What did he (Adamus) mean when he said we would 'go forth.' I cannot imagine staying at present, and the only reason I am still here is that I don't want to put my parents through my obvious suicide." John, we go forth because the dream of enlightenment and freedom goes back to ancient times. You and I and many, many other Shaumbra planted the seeds of Christ consciousness over 2000 years ago, and we have come back in this era for the final realization. On one hand this is our deepest desire, and on the other hand we hesitate at the threshold of enlightenment because we're not sure if we're truly ready. It's the Angst of Shaumbra. Another way of answering your question is to say, "Because we can't go back, nor do we want to go back, so we go forth."

You said: "Going into the 'And' does help, but not enough and I seem to be even beyond 'allowing.' Even after almost 20 years of awakening nothing prepared me for this." John, we all hear what you're saying. Nothing could have prepared us for this experience, yet everything has brought us here. Our soul knows we are already enlightened so it doesn't get caught up in the journey. It only asks us to stop for a moment and realize that there is nothing more to learn, nothing to achieve, and nothing to work at. It is just time to receive what is already there. It sounds so simple, yet it is so difficult when drowning in our own physical and emotion pain. But sooner or later, you and I and Shaumbra around the world will give up the crusade because there is nothing to battle any more, not even ourselves.

You said: "Sorry to both-er you with this but there is nobody in the world I can talk to and I can hardly get online because of legal problems, although I do look at the website and listen to the Shouds over and over as they are my only comfort." John, you are not alone. Although you may be isolated due to your situation, you are not alone. There are tens of thousands of Shaumbra around the world who, like you, feel imprisoned by the old way of life and are trying their best to allow a new reality while staying in the physical body. Every Shaumbra who reads this feels part of themselves in you. As a matter of fact, I would like to ask everyone who reads this to connect with John, not in pity or sorrow but to honor the brilliance of the situation he has created for himself. It really is brilliant even though he may not recognize it at the moment. Reach out to John with your radiance and charisma, and let him know he is not alone.

And John, I suggest you read The Red Lion by Maria Szepes. It's one of those hard-to-find books, but I think it's available as a PDF download from one of the libraries in Australia. Otherwise, Amazon carries it from time to time as a hard copy or paperback. It's about a young adept who gets himself into a world of misery, and comes out the other side as a true Master with the guidance of St. Germain. The book was written in 1945 and banned for a long time, but now Shaumbra has resurrected it. In a way, it's our story of awakening. It gets very dark at times but it has the type of ending....

Well, read it for yourself. You'll see why I suggest it.

Let me end by saying this: It's OK John. You don't have to stay in the "old" any more, whether it is your old self or the old consciousness of Earth. Find a quiet time and then say out loud in a very clear voice, "I Am Ready!" Soon after that, Adamus will take you on a journey into new potentials, and he will personally work with you, as he does will all Shaumbra who are consciously ready. Your life will start changing in ways you couldn't have imaged while inside the walls of your energetic prison. I'm not saying it will be easy, because we all have layers and layers of guilt and shame and limitations to release. We all have aspects that are invested into limitations and chaos, we all have doubts about our worthiness, and we all wonder if the dream of freedom is even possible. It is. I know beyond a shadow of a doubt that it is. As challenging as your situation is right now, it is divinely appropriate. One day soon, we would all like to read your article about your own realization right here in the Shaumbra Magazine.

In the ProGnost 2015 Update Adamus covered a multitude of very timely and relevant topics, starting with "The Separation Factor." On this planet the separation between "aspects" is becoming more pronounced, including separation between cultures, separation between those who are conscious and those who are semi-conscious, separation in wealth, and much more. This "Separation Factor" will ultimately help move humanity toward transformation and reintegration, but in the meantime it can be incredibly challenging. And it mirrors the aspect integration work that Shaumbra has already begun within themselves. Adamus then moves on to talk about the major factors that are affecting the planet right now.

HERE'S WHAT VIEWERS SAID:

"Adamus at his finest!"

"Provocative and insightful"

"The best ProGnost yet!"

"It is one of the best experiences with Adamus... in fact, it is the best!"

FREEDOM

The struggle for freedom, and the challenging responsibilities that come with it, permeates human consciousness right now. While nearly every human will say they desire freedom, most don't really want the level of responsibility that comes with true freedom and sovereignty. Adamus challenges the listeners by saying that true freedom means even freedom and disconnection from God or Spirit. Are you ready for that profound level of sovereignty?

POWER

According to Adamus, the opposite of freedom is power, and the quest for power is at the forefront of nearly every situation on the planet. In fact, he says the human-created God currently being worshiped "is the biggest power game of all." And, even though the entire world plays with power, Adamus says it is an either/or situation; you either play the power game or completely let it go. It is time to look within and see how far you are willing to go in your desire for freedom.

RELIGION & DUALITY

Religion has a tremendous influence on the planet right now, imposing a type of God-ceiling on consciousness. Also having an impact is the shifting equilibrium between the masculine (Adam) and feminine (Isis) energies. The feminine is rising, and while it will not seek to gain power (a masculine game) it is seeking balance. Many of the crisis situations around the world stem from the challenges involved in this rebalancing.

In light of this, Adamus talked at length about the "Wound of Adam," which he said "is going to be such an overwhelming factor, particularly in the next seven years on this planet." This masculine/feminine integration is also manifesting in the prevalence of gays, lesbians and transgender people around the world. These individuals have taken on the role of bringing forth a balance of masculine and feminine energies within themselves.

ETHNICITY & ANCESTORS

Adamus then talks about the different races on the planet, where they came from and how these differences will change and integrate going forward. The divide between cultures and ethnicities is directly tied to the ancestral lineage, one of the greatest freedom inhibitors of all. Adamus gives useful information on releasing your ancestral heritage.

He then talks about creating expressions of oneself beyond time, even “after” ascension, as he did through Mark Twain. As Adamus explains, this is possible in the absolute freedom of realization and sovereignty.

TECHNOLOGY

According to Adamus, technology, new energy sources and many other solutions are all directly tied to the level of consciousness on the planet. The Internet has created a level of connectivity that allows long-held secrets to finally be revealed, which in itself is contributing to the power shift that's going on.

Saying that the potential for actual war between countries is quite low, Adamus talks about the more urgent situation where conditions are ripe for extreme civil unrest. This will be facilitated by technology, and will set the stage for drastic changes across the world stage.

He also mentioned fascinating details about the potential biological engineering of babies, GMOs as they relate to the world's food supply, and – his favorite – robotics. All of these things play into the current imbalances of power, fueled by the Separation Factor and contributing to the power shift.

MORE!

Adamus also talks about the New Earth and how the presence and focus of Shaumbra is changing, the challenges facing the European Union and specifically the dynamics in Greece and Germany, the Swiss banking crisis, the economy, the alien agenda, including a fascinating treaty recently negotiated with the Pleiadians, and much, much more!

A NEW ENERGY APPROACH TO RELEASING ANYTHING IN YOUR LIFE... INCLUDING ADDICTIONS

Life can be addictive... Not just drugs, alcohol and tobacco, but also emotions, drama, relationships, low self-worth, lack of abundance and health issues. We get stuck in patterns and then forget why the pattern was originally created. Then, the behavior becomes addictive because it's familiar, comfortable and sometimes deeply ingrained.

Addiction Unplugged acknowledges that for far too long, we have all been playing out a victim consciousness, convincing ourselves that dependency and powerlessness are absolutely fundamental to the human condition. Nowhere is this belief more deeply ingrained than in the world of addiction, including the traditional treatment and recovery programs available to the masses. Drawing on modern-day scientific discoveries, ancient spiritual wisdom, and real-life testimonies, John Flaherty presents the practical means to move beyond the drama of addictive behaviors; leading the way out of victim mentality and into a more compelling, spiritually liberating, and empowered way of living.

Addiction Unplugged is a radical departure from the traditional ways of treating addictions, presenting revolutionary new insights and groundbreaking processes which open the way to an entirely different experience of yourself.

This special seminar is for anyone with ANY form of addiction or dependency, as well as counselors, facilitators, and people in relationships with addicts. In Addiction Unplugged, you will:

Dispel the myth of addiction, which has led you to accept the illusion of powerlessness

Transcend the obstacles which appear to be so insurmountable, by uncovering the judgments, beliefs and thoughts that have kept you fearful, limited and suppressed

Slip away from the fallacy of 'need,' which has kept you fastened in a locked-down and tunnel-visioned reality

Allow the freedom you desire to be so much more than the addictions you are ready to leave behind.

Together with Adamus Saint-Germain, John Flaherty will teach you not only how to be free of your addiction, but to transcend your addiction to the intoxicating way of life that you've been living.

AS YOUR CONSCIOUSNESS EXPANDS, ADDICTIONS DISSOLVE

We have all been challenged by addictive behaviors, whether you have become aware of your own or whether they remain subtly hidden from you. Not that there is anything wrong in that; both Tobias and Adamus have revealed to us their own personal challenges that were distractions to them, too, until they were able to dissolve them.

Adamus says,

"I understand exactly what you are going through. After all, I was trapped in my crystal prison for over 100,000 years. You are smarter than me because you're not going to get stuck for 100,000 years. Perhaps just a few life times!"

Nor did Tobias hide his own struggles from us when he admitted:

"I became very sad, very depressed and I turned to one of my favorite pleasures ... wine ... a lot of wine! I found myself getting angry at God and at myself and started indulging a little bit easier, each day a little more and more, and each day was a little worse than the day before, trying to find some kind of pleasure that seemed to be missing from my life. It helped me relieve so much of my pain. And, even when I wasn't drinking, my addictive energy carried over into my next life."

Early bird EXTENDED: $250 through August 5, 2015!

MORE INFO

Ascension and dying have something big in common. Both are on the razor's edge of holding on for dear life and letting it all go. The razor's edge is a sweet spot to be in for a while but not a place to linger. Even so, that's where many people get stuck while dying. It's an uncomfortable place for them to be in, and for us to watch.

THE SKILL OF LETTING GO

'I don't know how to die.' I can see in their eyes the unspoken plea to make dying easy. I tell them it's about letting go and allowing. They don't believe me. Those are forgotten skills.

We are unskilled in the art of letting go partly because we don't have many models for doing so. A consequence of having few Standards for letting go is that we don't know what a good death or even a good ascension really look like. Maybe that's why a majority of Shaumbra put their ascension on hold; after all there's no rush. Dying is a different matter. The death process can't be delayed, although many try to postpone their transition in a bid for more time.

I know you want more time to die. But more time might not be what you bargained for. Maybe you don't need any more time other than what you have now.

I have a greater empathy for the dilemma dying people face because of my own struggle to let go. Getting out of my own way and engaging the ascension/embodyed enlightenment process has been challenging. So how can I tell them that letting go is easy when I hesitate?

We put off dying and delay ascension in a bid to hide the uncomfortable truth that our stories will end. C'est fini. That's all folks. Still, we tell ourselves that we aren't ready for the finish. Instead of a timely ending, death has become an act of resistance for those who wait to get pushed out of the body. Adamus calls this a despicable way for a human to die.

Have you forgotten how to die? This is not the first time you have released the human story. I am going to hold your hand and breath with you.

It's not surprising that the themes of death and ascension are woven into the fabric of the Adamus teachings. They fit together well and understanding one helps us with the other. DreamWalking® is the real-time demonstration of just how well this works.

By Dale Presly

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN HOW TO DIE? THIS IS NOT THE FIRST TIME YOU HAVE RELEASED THE HUMAN STORY. I AM GOING TO HOLD YOUR HAND AND BREATHE WITH YOU.

DreamWalking is the most practical, insightful and astounding thing I have learned from Crimson Circle and Adamus. It has opened a doorway to the death experience, removed many of the unknowns and pretty much all of the fear. Most of all, DreamWalking reminds me just how important a good death is.

Dying is a skill, and the best way to learn the skill of dying is to practice it. DreamWalking is the perfect practice for dying. The DreamWalker Death Transitions® School and a course called Interdimensional Living have sharpened my angelic skills of awareness, focus and imagination – the same ones that are missing in much of dying I am a witness to.

Dying isn't what you think it is. In fact, dying has nothing to do with thinking. Dying is a journey that begins when you get out of your mind.

DreamWalking is the substance of the Halloween DreamWalks and the DreamWalker Death Transitions material. In these presentations, we are introduced to DreamWalking as a way to experience the dynamic nature of the transition we call death. Or perhaps re-introduced is a better word because DreamWalking is as old as the hills. It was practiced in ancient civilizations, notably in ancient Egypt and the Anasazi of the American Southwest, and it is still performed by some indigenous cultures today. For instance, Native Americans seem less prone to the mind lock that many of us are stuck in.

The truth is, we can't think our way into ascension any more than we can think our way through dying. If you are curious about the skill of dying and the art of letting go, then DreamWalker Death Transitions might be for you. But a word of caution: DreamWalking requires you to do what dying asks, which is to go beyond the limits of your mind.

I will DreamWalk you into the Near Earth Realms and beyond if that is your wish. As we move past the distractions, I am reminded that most people don't go beyond this place.

Dying should be a graceful exit instead of an undignified struggle to hold on. In today's society there is a tremendous need for better death care and for knowledgeable death care workers. In my opinion Shaumbra are naturals for this work. They may not have mastered the skill of letting go quite yet, but every single one has compassion for the challenge it presents.

Dale is the founder of the Salish Sea Hospice Project. The Salish Sea stretches along the west coast of Canada from Vancouver Island to Seattle. He is a DreamWalker Death Transitions practitioner and has followed the Crimson Circle since 2001. More on the skill of dying can be found at www.salishseahospice.org

The struggle for freedom, and the responsibilities that come along with that freedom, permeates human consciousness right now. And the quest for power, the opposite of freedom, is at the forefront of nearly every development on the planet.

SELF MASTERY

'Mastery' can be a very intimidating word. As a young man in my 20's, I was invited to display my craft as a custom furniture maker in a local art museum. They labeled me as being a 'master craftsman.' I knew however that many of my peers were far more skilled at their craft. And yet, for whatever reason, this museum selected my work. I didn't get into woodworking to become recognized, it just seemed like a good match to support a way of life that gave me tremendous freedom. And so I reluctantly accepted the title and over time, it forced me to look at my life in a new way. Eventually, I realized that being shy wasn't my truth.

By Robert Theiss

Today, self mastery embraces a refreshing new perspective. Unlike teachings from our past, it doesn't require a lot of mental disciplines. It has so much more to do with allowing, receiving and simply being in your own energy. The art of mastery begins by embracing our human condition just as it is. It takes a lot of courage to feel really good about yourself despite all the limitations we inherited along the way. A true master is willing to feel a deep and sincere love for all that they are in this moment. We've spent countless lifetimes trying to accommodate the collective consciousness of our human family, hoping to receive what was never shared in the manner we wanted to receive it. Humanity however suffers from a broken heart. Each of us in our own unique way knows how it feels when love is withheld. The art of mastery invites us to shift our attention within. There we discover some unsavory energies that remind us of so many relationships we've encountered, from the outside in.

Our inner journey guides us to attend a workshop, read a book or spend more time simply gazing at the sunset. We eventually discover that there also exists deep within us a pure and sacred presence. At first it might seem very passive or detached, as if lacking any interest in being a part of our life. But over time we learn that this divine presence is simply waiting for our conditioned human nature to drop the filters and allow it to participate in our day-to-day reality.

Based on my own experience, that invitation didn't become real until I finally got so tired, so frustrated and physically exhausted from not being a master. Like most of us, I prefer an easy life. I would often imagine just sitting in my lounge chair on a tropical beach while waiting for life to bring me whatever my heart desired. And perhaps like you, having experienced a little of that, I found it incredibly boring. My relationship with this divine presence is what I call mastery in motion, living every day feeling the support from life flowing into all of my creations. And for me, it didn't become real until I was willing to love myself.

In my relationship with archangel Michael, we enjoy serving others who have a sincere desire to become conscious creators of their own experience. A bold choice indeed! I've discovered that most of us have simply forgotten how to love ourselves. Oh, we're very good at giving it lip service. We know how to love others and we demonstrate that on a daily basis. It feels good when someone compliments you for a service well done. But very few know how it feels to have an orgasmic love affair just with YOU.

Staying in touch with the past allows us to dwell on memories of love shared between parents, family and friends. But this is also where we get stuck when we rely on our past to help define how we want to feel in this moment. As a true master, you will put your imagination to work to create how YOU want to feel. It seems so simple – how would you like to feel about yourself? There is so much freedom in this choice and yet, many hesitate simply because they have forgotten how it feels to love their own self. Much of humanity thinks love is just another four-letter word that will end up hurting you. They have no reference to a love that is sincere and honest, and of course the mind is always eager to discount any imagined feeling if it doesn't exist in your past. So, let's take this moment to breathe in a new potential!

How did you want others – parents, family, friends or co-workers – to love you? This will naturally bring up some uncomfortable feelings but see if you can be okay with that. Truly, how would you like others to love you? The beauty of this work happens when you realize that you might wait your entire life before you experience such a love from another human being. At that point a true master proclaims, "Why wait?!"

Why deprive your self any longer from feeling a sincere and tangible love just for you? So take a deep breathe. And, as best that you are able, feel about your self the way you were hoping others would feel about you. Let your self feel the joy and freedom that naturally comes to you when we stop making others responsible for how we are feeling. A master turns within, despite the circumstances, and takes a huge risk. You begin to realize that it is only you withholding love from you. Now is a good time to skip the blaming and shaming, take another deep breath and allow your self to imagine how good it would feel to experience a deep love for yourself having its way – just with you.

'Self mastery' simply ends up being more letters for 'self love.' The feelings you create for your self while loving your self serve as a foundation that will support you no matter where you are or what you are doing. It first awakens your senses, like foreplay between lovers, and in time you begin to feel enlightened. Like an orgasmic wave of self-filling energies, having your way with your self might sound a little strange but a true master makes bold choices. Each and every time you choose to appreciate and value YOU more than anything else, you honor the gift of creation. Every time you choose to feel how YOU want to feel, you invite your non-physical counterparts to share their presence with you. You feel ravished by this most intimate sharing. In turn, you now embody a state of consciousness that is capable of sharing this love with any counterpart that might also suffer from the pain of love being withheld.

The art of self mastery is self love in action – such a bold choice to stop using our past to help define this present moment. It took me awhile but I finally fell deeply in love with me, which in turn has allowed me to accept the quality of love that Michael shares 24/7. It is such an honor for me to co-create this moment with a growing number of awakened human masters who have risked everything in the name of love!

ASPECTOLOGY UPDATE

First time offered online

AUGUST 7–9, 2015

CRIMSON CIRCLE CONNECTION CENTER

LOUISVILLE, COLORADO USA

Aspectology represents some of the deepest core material from the Crimson Circle (along with the Sexual Energies and DreamWalker Death schools). The original Aspectology material, which Tobias called “new energy psychology,” was recorded in 2008. It is now being made available for the first time online, with new energy and information from Geoff, Linda and Adamus Saint-Germain.

Tobias says that “Aspects are the way of the creator,” and in this school he presents an introduction to the study of the aspects we create to experience and manage our lives. Aspects are generally healthy and balanced expressions of the Self, created for a specific task or purpose such as parent, musician, warrior, business person, driver, healer, child, and much more. Other aspects can be past life identities, certain talents and abilities, and even your physical biology. Each human has thousands and thousands of aspects that are, in essence, rays of your divine self.

Created in love for self, aspects are normally fully reintegrated when their service is complete. However, they can also become wounded, fragmented and separated as a result of traumatic experiences such as physical abuse, serious illness, divorce or accidents. A separated aspect can also represent a part of yourself that you deny or reject. In that case it can become stuck or dissociated and influence your life in unconscious and sometimes detrimental ways. In the worst case a person can develop a Multiple Personality Disorder.

With the tools offered by Tobias in the Aspectology school, you can start to recognize and reintegrate those aspects that are not fully integrated in your life by inviting them back home to you. This process can be very challenging and intense but also very liberating. The understanding of aspects can help any human discover how they create parts of themselves to handle life situations. Participants in this course learn how to create the "safe space" in their lives that invites every part of themselves back home, without processing, counseling, drugs or lengthy, expensive therapies. By reintegrating your aspects you can release deep energetic wounds and begin enjoying and creating your life in a whole new way.

This workshop gives very practical solutions and tools, and is appropriate for anyone who is looking for true solutions and freedom beyond what can be found in typical therapy and counseling, seeking to be a conscious creator in their own life or is a professional facilitator, therapist, counselor, psychologist, etc.

Aspectology is also an extremely appropriate follow-up to Tobias' Sexual Energies School. The energy management skills that you will learn in SES will help you to not become overwhelmed as your aspects make their presence felt during and after the Aspectology class.

NOTE: In this New Energy Aspectology Update, Tobias' original channels will be supplemented with updated information from Geoff and Linda, and Adamus will offer new insights and tools for the integration that is critical to embodied enlightenment.

AT THE DOORWAY OF ENLIGHTENMENT

IN THE MAGICAL LAKE COUNTRY NEAR VERNON, BRITISH COLUMBIA, CANADA
(LAKE OKANAGAN AREA)
OCTOBER 9 – 14, 2015

The Threshold events with Adamus Saint-Germain have quickly become some of the most sought after and exceptionally profound experiences offered by the Crimson Circle. We are now happy to announce the newest Threshold, to be held once again in the beautiful and nurturing Sparkling Hill Resort and Spa near Vernon, British Columbia, Canada.

The Threshold is a premium Crimson Circle event based on what Adamus calls The Threshold of Enlightenment. According to Adamus, our journey on the spiritual path has encompassed many lifetimes, but now we hesitate at the threshold of the realization of enlightenment.

In The Threshold, Adamus personally interacts with each and every attendee, posing the difficult questions and pushing the sensitive buttons. There is no processing or counseling, just addressing the issue of embodied enlightenment – and what's keeping you from it – with each individual. According to a recent attendee, Threshold was "the best 5 days in time and money spent in any lifetime on enlightenment."

The elegant and beautiful Sparkling Hill Resort overlooks Lake Okanagan, nestled in the mountains near Vernon and Kelowna, British Columbia. The stunning lake spans 110 km (68 miles) from Vernon to Penticton. Shimmering atop a granite ridge near the Monashee Mountains alongside Lake Okanagan, Sparkling Hill Resort offers guests unparalleled access to the natural beauty of the Okanagan Valley.

Sparkling Hill Resort hosts a luxury wellness spa, KurSpa. You will have access to KurSpa's 7 uniquely themed steam & sauna rooms, indoor pool, hot tub and heated outdoor infinity pool, Kneipp water-stepping therapy pool, exquisite tea & serenity relaxation rooms, and Keiser-equipped fitness studio. You can also book a time for special spa treatments such as cryotherapy, various massages and skin treatments – and it is highly recommended to book early as these are very popular! Massages include their signature

Crystal Rain Massage. Why not try one of these for integrating the workshop energies!

In addition, Lake Okanagan is known as the “Napa of the North” due to the region’s spectacular wines. October is wine harvest and festival time, so it is a superb opportunity to visit the area and tour around. We will organize a wine tasting excursion for those interested, so you can truly benefit from your visit.

Strictly limited to 25 participants plus staff.

Pre-requisite: All attendees must have completed the Sexual Energies School more than 14 days before The Threshold event.

Attendee ratings from the previous

THRESHOLD events at Sparkling Hill Resort, February 2015:

Adamus channels: 100% excellent

Effect: 87% life changing, 13% very good

Would recommend to other Shaumbra: 100%

Attendee comments:

“Best ever!”

“The ultimate CC experience.”

NOTE: The Threshold will not be offered again in North America or Europe until at least May 2016. Space is limited, so if you're interested in attending please consider coming to beautiful British Columbia in October, when the leaves are changing colors and the vineyards are being harvested.

WINE COUNTRY!

The North Okanagan area has many wineries to pique your curiosity and desire to discover a way of life that includes the growing and making of wine. Being located this far north has some advantages that make the production unique. You will find some of the most delightful whites like Ortega that do well in this colder climate, but most of all you will find the people and scenery beyond compare.

During the Threshold event, you will have the opportunity to go on a wine tasting tour of some of the many wonderful vineyards in the area. An experience not to be missed!

MASTER DISTRACTIONS (PART 2)

Distractions. Whether loads of fun or full of misery, whether on purpose or unexpected, they all have one thing in common: they're what we focus on while something bigger is going on. Of course, this isn't necessarily a problem unless we start giving more importance to the distractions than to what's actually happening.

In this context, 'what's actually happening' is that most Shaumbra are opening up to our realization. And although our distractions are sometimes enjoyable, when they get too annoying we imagine they'll evaporate with the dawn of enlightenment. But will they? Human life is a huge distraction in itself, plus our existence on this planet will always involve things like biology and weather and other people, none of which can ever be perfected. So perhaps the key is figuring out how to deal with the distractions and remember what's really going on.

PHYSICAL ISSUES

One of the biggest challenges many of us face is physical discomfort and imbalance. In a way, I suppose it's to be expected. Not only are we asking our bodies for the unbelievable feat of rewiring every strand of DNA without kicking us out (like rebuilding your house from the ground up while living in it), the vast majority of Shaumbra are also 50-ish and older, which means we're feeling more residue from this very intense lifetime and less physical resilience to clear it out. It's hard to feel expansive and free when you're in pain and, even worse, it's hard to feel like a Master when you can't fix it!

Like many people I know, an annoying physical situation has been challenging me lately. It involves intense discomfort but otherwise doesn't really affect my life, so in that regard I'm fortunate. Everything functions fine, but with a constant awareness of imbalance. What to do? How does a Master master their body? If we can figure this one out, I know a lot of us will be very relieved!

While dealing with this situation I've supported my body as much as possible by looking for solutions, exploring various remedies, and doing what I can to be more comfortable. Of course I've looked for the underlying reasons too – "What's irritating me? How am I blocking the energy? Am I unconsciously suppressing something?"

Those questions were valuable back when I was waking up and trying to understand myself, but now they just feel like mental spirals. So, while my mind tries desperately to figure it out, my Self reminds me, "This is just an experience. Body knows what she's doing and the situation will resolve itself. All I need to do is trust and allow." That's a lot easier said than done! In fact, all the secrets in Adamus' bag of tricks kind of lose their relevance in the face of physical pain. But I know the answer is there, just waiting to be discovered. And I know it's neither "give up" nor "try harder." Which of our "secrets" can be applied here? I've found allowing and and-ing to be very helpful.

In this case, I feel that allowing means letting go of the resistance and fixation on the issue. Yes, the problem is there and no, I don't like it. But I can allow myself to have this experience.

And – and this is where the magic appears – there's some other version of me that is not experiencing this problem. Whether she exists in the future, a different timeline or whatever doesn't matter. The fact is I know she exists, and I can experience her too! It's not about replacing or fixing my current experience, of having "that instead of this." It's about experiencing "that and this."

Believe me, this and-ing does a number on the mind. The first few times you explore it you'll probably get sleepy, frustrated and distracted. But keep at it and you'll find the magic too. Take the time to and until you really feel that other reality, until there's actually a smile on your face from feeling the other expressions of yourself that are healthy, balanced, abundant, and whatever else you want to experience.

What I love about and-ing is that it's not a mind game of trying to psyche yourself out of what is. Instead, it's adding more – another reality, a new potential, a simple choice – from the vast buffet of life. Why limit yourself to only one or two flavors when you can experience so much more? When distractions come along that you don't like, even body stuff, just and them! Yes, I still have a physical imbalance and I feel my perfect, glowing health. Yes, this body is in pain and I can tune in to potentials that are absolutely pain-free! It's really quite amazing. Instead of rejecting the undesired parts of me, I want all of me here, including the good stuff. That's the magic of and, and so far it's the only way I've found to go beyond the massive distraction of body issues.

PATHOS

I don't really know what else to call this one. It is the exquisite ache, the yearning desire to be home, and the closer we get, the more we're going to feel it. In a flash it can obliterate all the little annoyances of life, and at the same time ignite such an intense desire that the joy of earthly human life seems to evaporate. Here's an example of what I mean.

A few weeks ago I awoke from the most incredible dream. It was remarkable in how the ordinariness contained the most extraordinary experience. Whether the co-star in my dream was another soul or a facet of my Self matters not; the encounter was utterly out of this world. It was typical everyday moments that were filled with exquisiteness – heart wide open, profound intimacy, the purest love. I experienced a touch that said a million words, a gaze that spanned millennia, an embrace of nothing less than eternity.

And then I woke up. ☹

I tried unsuccessfully to go back to sleep, wanting nothing more than to return to that bliss rather than drag myself back to 'reality.' The dream had spoiled me for the day, for my family, for the ordinariness, and it was quite a struggle to engage again with life. How do you accept the melancholy of humanness after experiencing a moment of eternity? How do you come back from heaven?

It's a question we're going to face soon. How will we deal with it? I truly love the human life I have created.

And yet, after my brief dream experience, I wanted nothing more than to leave it all behind and return to that pure and deep eternal love. Heaven was distracting me from earth. And yet, embodied enlightenment is about experiencing both, somehow...

Again, this is where the and comes in. So far I have not been able to keep my awareness in that reality and this one for more than the briefest moment, but I feel the possibility a little clearer. Until now, heaven and earth

I was going to write about another favorite distraction, "other people," but that topic deserves a lot more space. For now I'll leave you with one word – compassion. When they drive you crazy, make incomprehensible choices, or just infringe a little too much into your reality, have compassion – for you first! If you need to be alone, make it so. If you don't want to play their games, walk away. And have compassion for them too, for their choices, for their path. They are creators just like you, and they'll find their have been very poignant but isolated aspects of duality. We're either here or there, separated from the other by an impassable chasm. In the and of embodied realization we finally bring them together, uniting there with here, divine with human, exquisite with mundane.

Is it possible? Will we be able to deal with the intensity? Shaumbra are a persistent bunch, so if anyone can do it, I know we can. And in the meantime, we use other distractions to take the edge off, and maybe to prevent blowing our minds with what's really going on.

way eventually. Come back to yourself, remember the and where you both also exist – fully realized and sovereign – and join them there if you want to.

And no matter how distracting your distractions are, remember that all is well. Whatever doesn't seem so is only a distraction, which means it's not terribly important. Sure, have the experience, enjoy the game, but don't get too caught up in it, because something else, something really big, is going on.
